Note:

if requested, the manufacturing company must issue to the buyer a Declaration of Conformity concerning the finished product in compliance with article Number 7.

It should be noted that as at 2014, there are no standards, UK or European, existing for descaling and power flushing pumps, and therefore no standard (other than the manufacturer's), to conform to.

Kamco can supply a Declaration of Conformity to internal standards and this document should be attached to that.
